

This element has a background color of gray and margin-left of 20px. However, it contains an  inline element of border-left-width thick and border-left-style solid, which should result in a thick solid border on the left side of the first box in the inline element (and the UA's default border on the other three sides).