

This element should have an overall padding of half an inch, which will require extra text in order to test. Both the content background and the padding should be aqua (light blue). Individual properties are tested here.