

This paragraph has a background color of gray and a 20-pixel right margin, and it contains an inline element of border-right purple double 10px, which should have a 10-pixel purple double right border. The line-height of the parent element should not change on any line. Individual properties are being tested here.