

The allocation rectangle of a line area is determined by the 'line-stacking-strategy' trait.

This tests sets that trait to 'line-height', which is set to "0.5in".

This area sets the line height to "0.25in", therefore the allocation rectangle of the lines on the blue area should be smaller than the lines on the red area.