

There should be a one-centimeter margin between this paragraph and the next, because when there is one negative margin, the two margins should be added (the minus sign should be kept).

This is another paragraph.