

There should be two centimeters between this paragraph and the one below, because negative margins collapse to a negative margin with the largest absolute value of the margins collapsed.

This is a paragraph which should I make very long so you can easily see how much space there is between it and the one below it.