

The mission of ETSI is to develop globally applicable deliverables meeting the needs of the ICT community, while supporting EU and EFTA regulations and initiatives. In order to achieve its mission ETSI favours international co-operation.

Jørgen Friis
Deputy Director- General
ETSI

ETSI work

ICT, Wireline, Wireless, Mobile, Broadcast

VoIP, Security, EMC

NGN, NGN@Home, Intelligent Houses

Cable TV

PLT

Radio technologies

Automotive short range radar, Ultra Wide Band, Radio LAN (2,45 + 5 GHz) Short Range Devices (SRD), RFID, TETRA

ITS

Products are : European Standards (EN), ETSI Standards (ES), Technical specifications (TS), Technical Reports (TR) and ETSI Guides (EG)

More than 13.600 deliverables published

Downloadable free of charge from the ETSI Web

ETSI IS

A not- for- profit association

Independent

Created in 1988

Secretariat located at Sophia Antipolis, France

Global standards

Market driven (users, administrations, manufacturers, operators, service providers, others)

26 Technical bodies (125+ working groups)

Services are Fora hosting, Interoperability testing and PTCC

ETSI relations

Two Partnership Projects (3GPP + MESA)

CEPT (frequency allocation)

EU (european Commission observer RSC, COCOM, RSP group etc.
Mandates / e- Europe)

Global Standards Collaboration
TSACC, TIA, ATIS, ARIB, TTC, TTA, ACIF, ITU

ITU (T+ R+ D), IEC, ISO + JTC1

Fora and Consortia (+ 70)

CEN and CENELEC

For more information...

ETSI web site: <http://www.etsi.org/>
 general public information concerning ETSI free standards download promotional aspects

ETSI portal: portal.etsi.org designed primarily for "standards practitioners"
 easy access to data for each technical body customized information retrieval for each technical body

access to;

- Working documents
- ETSI applications and databases